The above cut represents the extensive preparations of the party in power for the ensuing election. After New York has slumbered in filth for nearly the whole year, the party turn out and have the streets cleaned, in order to humbug the people with the idea that the city is hereafter to be kept clean and pure. The philosophic street-sweeper is seen in the foreground, delighted that it is near "election time," because he gets a job and the drinks, for his vote. In the background is a mass meeting of city reformers, urging upon the people to elect a reform party. The street sweeper does his best to throw dust, in clouds, in the eyes of the public. Next Tuesday night we shall know whether he succeeds in his efforts.

Theatricals.

Park Theatrax.—The performance of Alfred Evelyn leat night, by Mr. Murdoch, was the crowning glory of his engagement. No greater appliance has been called down from any sudience that ever assembled at the Park; and we are inclined to believe that the play of "Money" is the gate, as it were, through which Mr. Murdoch will pass to the loftiest temple of his ambition Fisher's Mr. Graves was capital, and Mrs. Vernon displayed her usual grace. At the close of the play, Mr. Murdoch was loudly called for, and made a very meat and effective speech. He said, that sithough he appeared again in the after-piece, he could not but respond to so flattering a sail. He could but repeat those expressions which, in reply to former acclamations, he had uttered from the depths of his heart. It would always be his pride and his boart to deserve the applause of a New York audience. He regretted that his present engagement was closed. His next appearance was to be in Philadelphia, where he was about to produce a national drama, founded on a meet interesting incident in our history, and written by an American gentleman. This drama, he trusted, he should alse soon present at the Park. The dancing of Miss Lee and Mrs. Hunt was the very personification of active grace.

Excitement in Mort Street—a Take of Love.—About half past 7 o'clock last evening, persons travelling in the vicinity of the lower part of Mott street w-re astonished by hearing screems of a female crying murder. We happened to be passing in that direction, and proceeding to the spot from whence they came, we found a great crowd of persons around the door of the house No. 35 Mott st., which, upon inquiry, we found to be a respectable establishment. There a young man was standing on the door-step with a young female in nis grasp, who he said was his sister. See, it seems, had become enamored of a youth, and her brother and parents disliking the match, forbade his entering their house and went to board at this house in Mott street. Her brother finding where she was, proceeded there last evening, entered the house, and finding his sister, beined her, for the purpose of forcing her home. She, of course, resisted, and this was the cause of the cries. About the time we came up, officer Sackman also made his appearance and attempted to release the girl, who was accessing and crying, from the grasp of the brother. The latter immediately took out a pistol and levelled it at the officer, and would probably have shot him had not a number of citizens present seized and taken the pistol from him. The officer than procured a carriage and took them both to the station-house, and the matter will undergo an investigation. The course of true love never did run smooth.

A grand ball came off last evening at Bleecker Hall. The room was too small by half, and volumes of dust were resized under the bounding feet of the dancers. It is, however, a pretty room—gothic style—the finish is superb. A temporary pulpit, with the folds of the American flag pundant from it, was erected for the ministreis. The cupola of this pulpit was formed with the helmets of the artillerymen, with simple plumes of Yankee red A chandelier lighted with gas, and with polished steel stilletoes, hanging from the gilt chains for effect, and supporting several tiny star-spangled banners, hung in the centre of the saloon. The proceedings et the House last evening were confined to private bills.

Nearly half the Senate session yesterday, and nearly the whole to-day, was thrown away in a futtle effort to name a Fresident of the Senate to agree upon such a minor matter, evidences that envy and jealousy have some part is the feelings of that body. The Senate seemed to be ashamed of its proceedings, for after a long discussion to-day, it ordered that portion of the journal containing the elective effort to be ferrilled to the senate seemed to be ashamed of its proceedings, for after a long discussion to-day, it ordered that portion of the journal containing the elective effort to be stricken out.

The bill authorizing fustices of the Peace to issue executions after the expiration of their terms of office, in cettain cases, was ordered to a third reading, as was the Assembly bill, authorizing the Supervisors of the city of New York to raise money by tax.

Mr. Hand reported in lavor of the Assembly bill to establish at House of Refuge in Western New York.

The Hiddeon River Raitroad bill, which has passed the House, was made a special order for Monday next, by the Senate.

In committee, the bill to abolish distress for rent was taken up. Senator Van Schoonhovan began a matterly address in answer to Mr. Spencer, and in favor of the bill. After a brilliant exordium, however, he gave way for a motion to adjourn, the hour of 2 P. M. having arrived.

In the House to-day, Mr. Stevenson reported the bill complete in relation to the arrival of alians at the port of New York and the bill provides that the Mayor and Loungh to the present sensitive to the bill and the strice of the partial demand one dollar of each appting for every such passenger arriving in their vessels—the funds so accruing to Power the shoney—the fundance of the passenger arriving in their vessels—the funds so accr

In the House to-day, Mr. Stevenson reported the bill complete in relation to the arrival of aliens at the port of New York. The bill provides that the Mayor shall demand one dollar of each captain for every such passenger arriving in their vessels—the funds so accruing to be applied to the support of gich persons as shall become a public charge within two years from their arrival—the captain to be subject to a fine of $250 in case he refuses to pay over the money—further, the bill invests the Mayor and Common Council with full power to regulate the other Jetails. The bill was ordered printed.

After much gasconade and badinage, a substitute to the bill authorizing the extension of the New York and Eris Railroad into Fennsylvania was brought into the House this morning, and ordered to a third reading.—This new bill was drawn up by Mr. Worden, of Ontario, and upon its first reading by him, the House accepted it.

Mr. Tilden's anti-rent bill in relation to devises and descents, was taken up in committee, and this, together with the bill to abolish distress for rent, and the remanning auti rent bills, were, without debate, referred to a committee to report complete.

The House agreed to name the day of adjournment on the 30th of this month.

Mr. Boyce gave notice of a bill requiring quarterly returns from maurance companies, to the Comptroller.

No action has been had on the bill concerning the apportionment of delegates to the convention. No action can be had, it seems, and any approach to the question is opposed with a vehemence worthy of the orators of the French revolution. The election will undoubtedly be held according to the present apportionment, though the pendency of the bill is said to be an occasion of trouble to nominating conventions.
